

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED AT LAST

Slayers Young Sicilian Are Arrested.

Persons Who Slaughtered Biaggio Vilardo Are Run Down.

San Francisco Police Find the Parties Who Brutally Murdered a Companion.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—The mystery of the murder of Biaggio Vilardo, the young Sicilian who was killed with a cleaver on Wednesday evening, and whose head, arms and legs were hacked from the bleeding trunk, has been solved. The atrocious crime was committed at 1234 Green street, in the house of Pietro Torchitto, also known as Peter Torchito, who is believed by the detective to be the murderer, and who is in hiding. His wife Rosa, as well as Filippo Ferletta, Salvatore Morando and Rinaldo Domina, wanted as witnesses, have been arrested, and the police expect soon to have Torchitto in custody. The bloody cleaver with which the man was cut down has been found, and in the basement of the house were discovered missing bones of the victim.

Missed the Young Man.

Biaggio roomed in the place and boarded with the family. On Wednesday Mrs. Torchitto, who is a widow, and her husband and Vilardo were at supper. When she returned at night she missed the young man and asked what had become of him. Her husband cut her short with the remark that it was none of her business.

Scene of Tragedy.

A search of the house showed that Vilardo's room had been the scene of the terrible tragedy. It bore the appearance of a slaughter-house, all efforts to remove signs of the crime having proven unavailing. In a lower part of the building human bones, not yet dry, and a blood-covered cleaver, such as are used by butchers and fishermen, were unearthed, and the detective pronounced the chain of evidence against Torchitto complete.

Who Dominates Is.

Rosario Domina, one of the persons now in custody, is the witness in the Biaggio murder case who at first was supposed to be the victim of the vengeance of the "Black Hand" society, which, officials think, planned the removal of those whose testimony might convict the assassins. Vilardo was an intimate friend of Brogardo, collected money to defray his funeral expenses, and was supposed to be active in the prosecution of his slayers.

Friend of Family Arrested.

After the police took possession of the Torchitto home today, Sam Rosefrume, a friend of the family, called, and was Immediately arrested. He said that he knew nothing of the murder, but admitted that Mr. and Mrs. Torchitto, with their five-month-old child, stayed at his house on Thursday night. The detectives are confident that they also were there on Friday night, and think that Torchitto is not far away now, though his wife disclaims all knowledge of his whereabouts.

Suspected Murderer Is Young Man.

The suspected murderer is an employee of the American Can company. He is about twenty-six years of age, five feet three inches tall and weighs 140 pounds. The ghastly burden he is supposed to have carried from his home on Wednesday night weighed 130 pounds. His wife is a young and attractive woman, and the detectives are now dividing their search for a motive between the theories of jealousy and the operations of a secret society.

Attempt to Conceal Evidence.

The murderer attempted to conceal all evidence of his crime by whitewashing the wall of the room in which it was committed, but the crimson stains are plainly visible through the new white surface.

No Cause for Jealousy.

Mrs. Torchitto declares that neither she nor Vilardo ever gave the husband any cause for jealous suspicion. She asserts that she has been in constant dread of her husband, who has a very violent temper, but says that on the night Vilardo was slaughtered she was not aware that they had quarreled in any manner over her.

Guided to Victim's Home.

When Vilardo's body was recognized yesterday by Filippo Ferletta, Captain of Detectives Burnett detailed Detective Sergeant Ed Wren, Ed Gibson and Detective Mattheison to remain with Ferletta all night and today, after constant urging, he finally guided the police to the home of the alleged murderer.

Thousands, both men and women, have kidney disease and do not know it. It is hereditary. If any of your family in this or past generations has had kidney trouble, the blood and the stomach, the liver becomes torpid and pains in the back are almost constant as the system becomes impregnated with the disease, the stomach is unable to digest the food properly. The result is a general breakdown.

MADE HER A WELL WOMAN

"For some years past I have been troubled with kidney disease, and I have been a great sufferer. I have had the complications that usually attend kidney trouble, and my people felt that it was only a question of time before the end would come. The local doctors could do nothing for me, and I had no relief after two years doctoring until I began to take Warner's Safe Cure. The first bottle helped me, I continued to use it, taking six bottles in all. My medicine did not cure me, I am in better health than I have enjoyed for years."—Mrs. Mabel Brown, Montgomery, Ala.

KIDNEY DISEASE

WARNER'S SAFE CURE is purely vegetable and contains no harmful drugs. It does not constipate. It is a most valuable and effective tonic, it is a stimulant to digestion and awakens the torpid liver, putting the patient into the very best receptive state for the work of the restorer of the kidneys. It prepares the tissues, soothes the inflamed organs and heals at the same time. It builds up the body, gives it strength, and restores the energy that is or has been wanting under the baneful suffering of kidney disease. Warner's Safe Pills taken with Warner's Safe Cure move the bowels gently and aid a speedy cure.

Warner's Safe Cure is now put up in two regular sizes and sold by all druggists, or direct, 50 cents and $1 a bottle.

Refuse substitutes. There is none "just as good" as Warner's Safe Cure. It has cured all forms of kidney disease for thirty years. It is prescribed by doctors and used in leading hospitals as the only absolute cure for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood.

SAVS MORMONS LIKE SUTHERLAND

Smoot Declares Church Is Satisfied.

Apostle Allows His Tongue to Wag to a Reporter.

Declines to Say, However, Why He Ran Away From the Mormon Conference.

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—The apostle Senator from Utah who came here ostensibly on a business trip, but in reality to escape being present at the Mormon conference in Salt Lake when the polygamist law-defiers and law-breakers of his quorum were expected, so that when his case came before the Senate he could say that he did not, by his vote, sustain the autocratic hierarchy, was interviewed here today. He endorsed Sutherland, saying the Mormons were satisfied with the Junior Senator. Said the apostle:

Satisfied With Sutherland.

"George Sutherland is one of the leading lawyers of our State, and lives in Salt Lake. He is not a Mormon, but he is a sensible fellow and realizes that all the crusades that have been made against the church were inspired by jealousies and hatred. The Mormons are satisfied with him.

Commercialism of Hierarchy.

"This talk about the Mormon church wanting to control everything and everybody is idle. It has been the custom of those who have led the church to lay the blame for everything that went wrong upon that organization. A great many unthinking people have done likewise, but I think a better understanding is being brought about. Men who think and who know realize that the lies that have been circulated broadcast have their origin among disgruntled and disappointed politicians, and they are coming to overlook them.

Refers to Investigation.

"The evidence is all in and the arguments have been submitted," he said, touching the status of the case against him at Washington. "I had hoped for the final action next session, but the committee was unable to make up its report in time. This report will be before the Senate early next session.

Is Sanguine.

"Am I sanguine as to the outcome? Of course I am. I will be sustained beyond all doubt. Those who have opposed me have been unable to make any kind of a showing. I feel perfectly sure of my seat, and I am not worrying at all.

Flying Trip to Coast.

"President Hills of the Deseret bank and myself have been here on a flying business trip. Our business was of a private nature and would not interest the public."

The Mysterious N-Rays.

The alleged discovery of N-rays constitutes one of the most remarkable anomalies in the history of science.

On the 23rd of March, 1903, M. Blondiot, professor of physics at the University of Nancy, published a paper in the Comptes Rendus in which he related that a first communication was rapidly followed by others, in which he developed his discovery of N-rays, which he related to the X-rays of Röntgen, and the cathode rays of Crookes, and extended his discovery along new lines.

These French gentlemen are all of them men of unquestionable scientific professional integrity. Among others, there is young Becquerel, who has his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather to emulate.

Now the anomaly referred to is this, that from the date of this first paper until the present time no human being has succeeded in verifying Blondiot's work or in detecting the existence of the radiations at all. The situation is unique in the annals of science, because when scientific people quarrel it is always over theories or over the degree of accuracy of some one specific fact; but here we have a thousand "facts," all neatly dovetailing into one another, and yet no one has succeeded in explaining one another, and yet the really strenuous efforts of competent men outside of France to verify the solitary one of the alleged "facts" have resulted in nothing but depressing, fruitless failure.

The experiments upon which Blondiot and his confederates rely for the validity of the N-rays are simple in the extreme. They may be repeated by any reader so that he may test them for himself, and he may make up his mind for himself as to whether they are due to imagination or to objective reality.

"Possibly the N-rays may not be without action on certain phenomena of animal or vegetable life in a way hitherto little suspected," for there are many obscure phenomena of life for which no explanation has ever been vouchsafed. Prof. Robert Kennedy Duncan, in Harper's Magazine.

Diplomats Can't on Secretary Taft

Are Given Hearing on Subject of Trade Restrictions by Panama Railroad.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Secretary Taft gave a hearing to Foreign Ministers, representing most of the countries on the west coast of South and Central America, on the subject of trade restrictions resulting from the proposed combination between the Panama Railroad company and the Pacific Mail Steamship company, and certain steamship lines running southward from Panama.

These Ministers have collected data intended to show the injurious effect on direct trade relations between the United States and the west coast of South America of the existing traffic arrangements between the Panama Railroad company and the steamship companies. They stated that by a system of preferential rates to these favored steamship companies the Panama Railroad company had made it practically impossible for any other steamship lines to engage in the carrying trade between the west coast and the United States.

It also was stated that the railroad company favored the Pacific Mail and the selected Chilean line, not only by an ingenious system of through bills of lading, which were discriminatory against other lines, but also by controlling the terminal docks on the isthmus and denying the use of these on even terms to the other lines.

Secretary Taft was deeply interested in the presentation, and arranged that the Ministers should submit to him a regular memorandum, which he would turn in before the isthmian commission next week. He desired also to consult on this subject with Minister Root, who is just returning to Washington from a trip to the isthmus and the Pacific coast, made with the special purpose of looking into this question of discriminatory rates on the Panama railroad. Secretary Taft expressed his own belief that the discrimination complained of should be stopped, and his expectation that the canal commission would deal with the subject in that spirit, regardless of any immediate diminution of railroad rates.

Encounter With a Lion.

Traveling in the interior of East Africa, an Englishman, Mr. J. H. B. Bulpett, tells the following thrilling incident, which took place at a spot about 500 miles inland from Mombasa.

In a letter to a friend in England. "The narrowest escape I had was when I was from a lion about a month ago. I went into the thick thorn bush after him, which was rather mad. But he would not come out, and I was determined to get him. He charged me where the bush was in his favor. I knocked him over with two bullets, but still he came on, and I had nothing for it but to run.

"When I knocked him over with the second barrel he was within a yard of me. He made a grab at my leg, and I was in a desperate struggle with him. I was propped up by a prodigious effort I managed to jump on to the top of a thorn bush. There we were, he looking at me and I at him about three feet above his head. I expected to be dragged down at every moment, but when he saw that he was too far gone, and I called out to somebody to come into the bush and finish him.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of "Tribune" May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most powerful and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

How to Find Out.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves who have kidney ailments, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

EDITORIAL NOTE.—So successful is Swamp-Root in promptly curing even the most distressing cases of kidney, liver or bladder troubles, that to prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in The Salt Lake City Sunday Tribune. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Neckties and Good Society.

"I gather from the fashionable novelist that no statesman, no diplomat, no gentleman, the author," "No true woman could ever care for him, no really classy society ever opens its doors to him. I am worried about this thing, because to confess the horrid truth, I wear a made-up tie myself."

This dictum of fashion will always be a mystery even to the men who cravenly follow it to its depths enough to avoid the devastating effects of bad neckties. The collar worn by the man who wears a necktie is a piece of linen attached to the neck of the shirt, which came high and was turned down over the shoulders of the coat.

The cuff, which is now so elaborately starched and ironed, is the descendant of the long sleeve which was originally made of more for convenience than for fashion.

The shirt front, when it is a shirt front, is a succession of frauds and make-ups, whether it buttons or makes a bow at buttoning in the front or in the back, and especially when in some instances it is only a "dickie."

The made-up tie is not only a convenience, but there are eloquent arguments for it as a preventive of bad language and profanity. As a moral agent there is ground for holding that it is second only to the church and the Sunday-school.

No busy man has ever gone through a life of necktie tying without seriously impairing his standing as a Christian. The inventor of the "Three Men in a Boat" can bring about need no description and the agonies possible in a contest between a dress tie and a man in a hurry around of rods, minus a gentle reminder of Dante's Inferno.

Mr. Jerome's protest is for all mankind. The inventor of "Three Men in a Boat" will find that every man in the world will with him this time, except the rare few who have mastered the tie habit.—St. Louis Star.

Electricity in a Rocker.

[Denver Times]

Two Denver men have just patented an electric device that promises to bring fame and fortune to them. The device is a rocking chair, and is a mechanical rocking chair. It can be attached to any ordinary rocking chair and is so arranged that the chair does not appear unlike the chair seen in every house. Under the seat is placed a small dynamo about as large as two eggs. To this is attached a series of rods, which are connected with which operate the dynamo when the chair is rocked.

In other words the rocking of the chair causes the rods to move back and forth and they set the dynamo in motion. Concealed wires lead from the dynamo to the arms of the chair and to receive the electricity one has only to rest the hands and arms on the arms of the chair. A gentle rocking sends a gentle current of electricity through the body of the person in the chair. A more rapid rocking increases the strength of the current, but no matter how violent the rocking the current generated will not be strong enough to cause any injury. For those who need electrical treatment the chair will be a boon, for the treatment may be taken while reading or resting. Attached to the chair is a small dynamo, which may be taken out and used to send a current through the face or any part of the body which needs special treatment.

The inventors believe they can manufacture the chair at little more cost than an ordinary rocker and they expect soon to put it on the market.
